

FOR BUSINESS

Is your business inclusive and accessible to all?

Walk around the premises of your business and pinpoint any areas you feel may not be fully accessible. Keep in mind, when people visit your premises, they need to be able to move around easily in all areas.

Make any notes on where you may be able to change or improve things.

Check the bathroom areas of your business and think about whether anybody and everybody can fully access these.

Check to see that all areas are labelled clearly.

If your business is in retail, check to see if everything is easily reached for anybody coming in to make a purchase. The aisles should also be easy to move through.

Talk to your employees about good customer service – for example, speaking directly to people instead of who they are with is a big step to inclusion here.

To ensure your business is fully inclusive and accessible, contact Julie at Ups & Downs Advocacy and Family Support Services for a consultation upsanddowns1234@outlook.com